Mark-

Hey! I must say it's been one hell of a year in Chemistry! If you say one more thing about putting milk in my eyes! :). And you'll never know what Thumpen means!
Never! Well have a wild summer & I'll see ya
next year in Physics!
When you'll be a measely little inferior junior & I'll be a superior SENIOR!
Ha! well see ya later!
Love
Margaret
(Thumpen!)

Mark,
Have a Nice Summer and don't let your Motto be "anybody wanna buy a used Skateboard... cheap"!
also try to stay away from Joysticks!
hope to see you next year your friend,
Tom

Mark

Im glad I met ya this year. Youre a real nice guy and a good friend. Thanks for the help in comp. I Hope you have a rad summer, dont get hurt skateboarding. Hope to see ya next year. Were Juniors now only 2 years left.

Warning
This may contain unneeded words. Wear eye protection

See ya later-

Mark,

Hey work hard or you don't have a good summer and I will see you this summer.

Later

Neal

Marcus Archambeault !!!

my little sophomore - You've made science (bio, chem) bearable Next year we'll be facing the hellish experiance of Physics together. Try to stay out of trouble (yea right)

Love,

Pam

Marcus-

I know you are honored to have your book signed by "adorable" Kathy Dorr. But w/ no seriousness - it has been a very different, funny year. Though I still don't know what I want to be, I'll never forget all the interesting years, educational bc we learned. Ha-Ha we laughs and the dinosaur crushing bab table. We all did have a lot of fun, I certainly did have same physics class. I'm not in the best of luck in the future. See you at Bladtes to you, the summer. and dont build any- great tree houses.

DOUBLE TALK

"Did you hear? Nancy said that Chris said that Jean told him that Susie told Mark she only weighed 103 pounds! I swear she buys five rolls of Sprees every day. What an ox! I phoned Cathy last night and she never returned my call. She thinks she's it on a stick. The new kid is in my AP biology class. He's from Wyoming. I don't really know him, but I think he likes Brenda. Can you believe that? I mean, he just hopped off the tomato truck and he's already going after Brenda!"

"Oh yeah? well, listen to this — Lisa said that Jonie said that Betsy said that Mary is planning on going to school to be a fashion designer. She wore high tops with her prom dress! I can't believe I have to run a mile in gym. Jen had leopard print underwear under her white shorts! Everyone said that it was wild. Hold on a second . . . Okay Mom, I'll be off the phone soon . . . after all finals aren't for another day."

DOUBLE EDGE

Sometimes no matter what we do we can't win. Remember how:
You stay up all night to study for a test and then you fall asleep during it.
You read all of Moby Dick and your friends read the Cliff notes and they get better grades than you.
You win the game 1-0 but your coach says you could have won 5-0, so you have to run 5 extra laps around the football field.
You plan all of your night around E study in order to do your homework and then you find out you don't have it.
You get dressed up to impress someone and that person is absent.
You save up money to buy this sweater and the day you wear it you see ten other people wearing the some one.
The only day you have to ride the bus it turns out to be bus evacuation day.

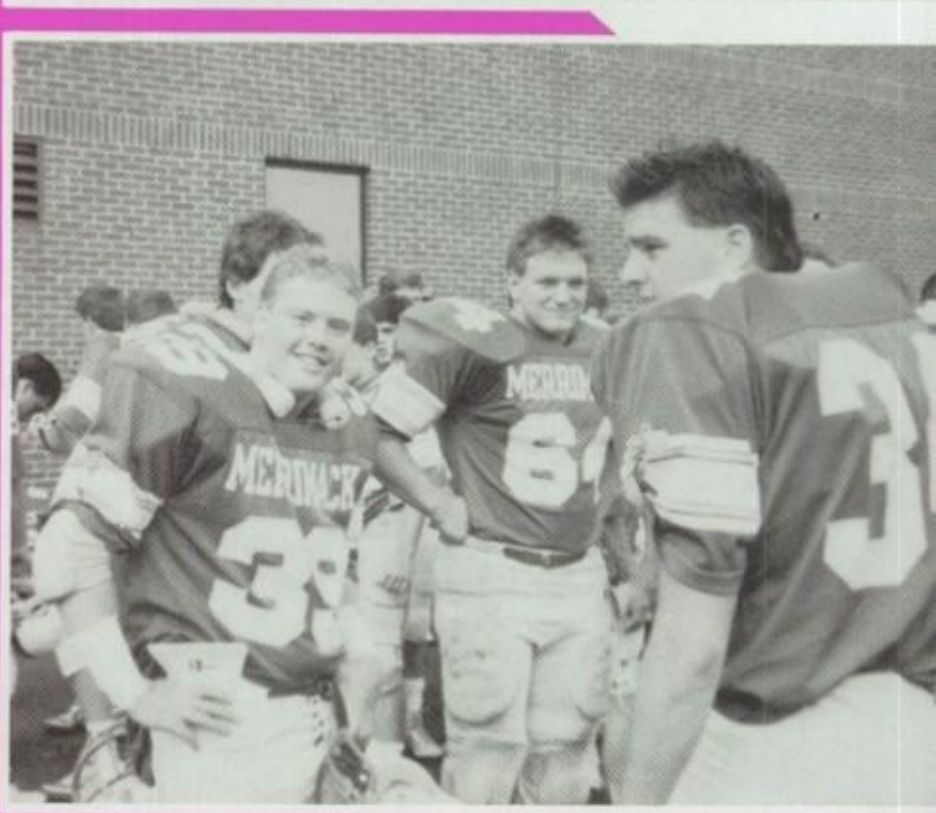
Class of

Nineteen Eighty-Eight

DOUBLE DELUXE

Have you ever noticed that great things come in pairs? Examples of these things are twinkies, socks, earrings, mittens and best of all friends. Everyone has that special someone that they can share their life with. A friend is someone who stands by you in good times and bad. A friend is someone who gives and doesn't expect to receive. A friend accepts you for what you are, not for what you look like or how intelligent you are or how you dress. When you come down to it the only thing that can't be replaced is friendship. Maybe you have known this special person since the first grade or maybe you met in high school. It doesn't matter how long you have known this person because a friendship is forever. If it is taken care of, respected and appreciated, it will never die.



opp. pg., top to bot: Step by step, side by side. Huddle before practice. Who's winning? Who's playing? Where's Snow White? big pic: Leeann Theriault making a scene. this pg: Dawn Hermann holds up her choice. Let's play ball. Sean Wisby.

DOUBLE TIME

A sleepy, listless student drags himself into the cafe at 7:30 in the morning. His bloodshot eyes search for a table to place his mountain of books upon. He collapses into a round, blue, and slightly tilted seat. His head drops and he immediately begins to snore. How did this happen?! This condition is the result of trying to balance the responsibilities of homework, family life, and employment hours. This student, as many others, has been working double time. Working double time continues through every school day throughout the year. So when we see someone such as this, we can sympathize with them because we have all experienced it ourselves.

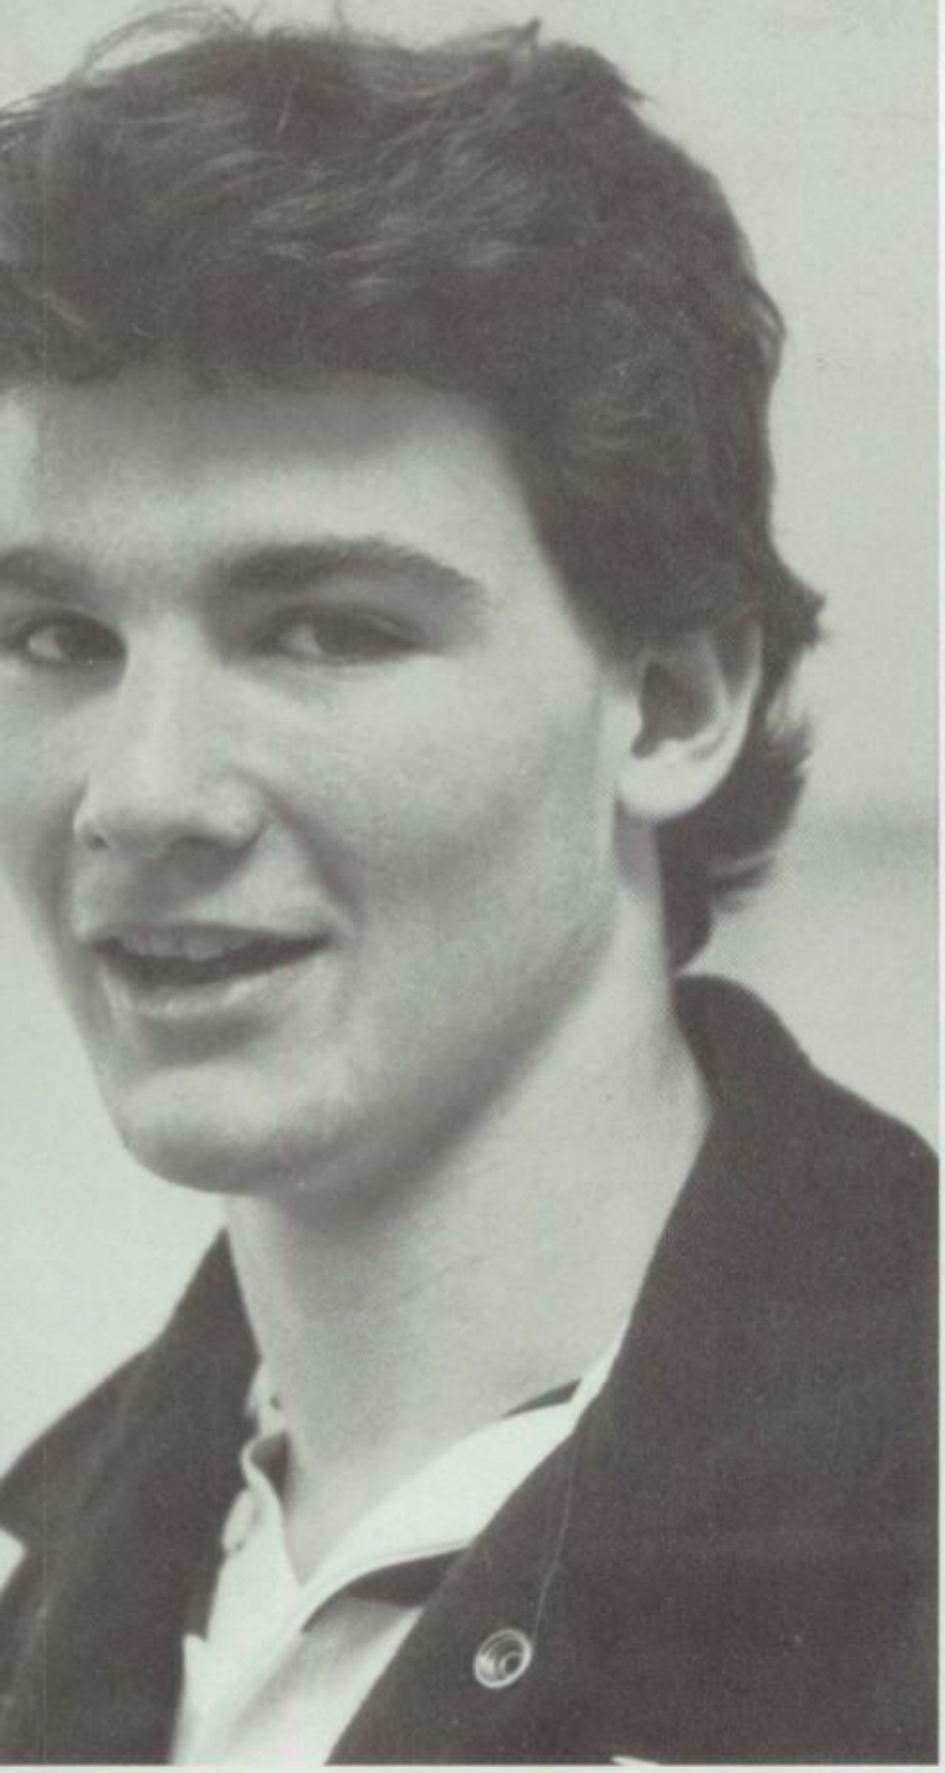
DOUBLY SPOKEN

Through the years, certain teachers have used certain phrases over and over again. Do you recognize any of these?

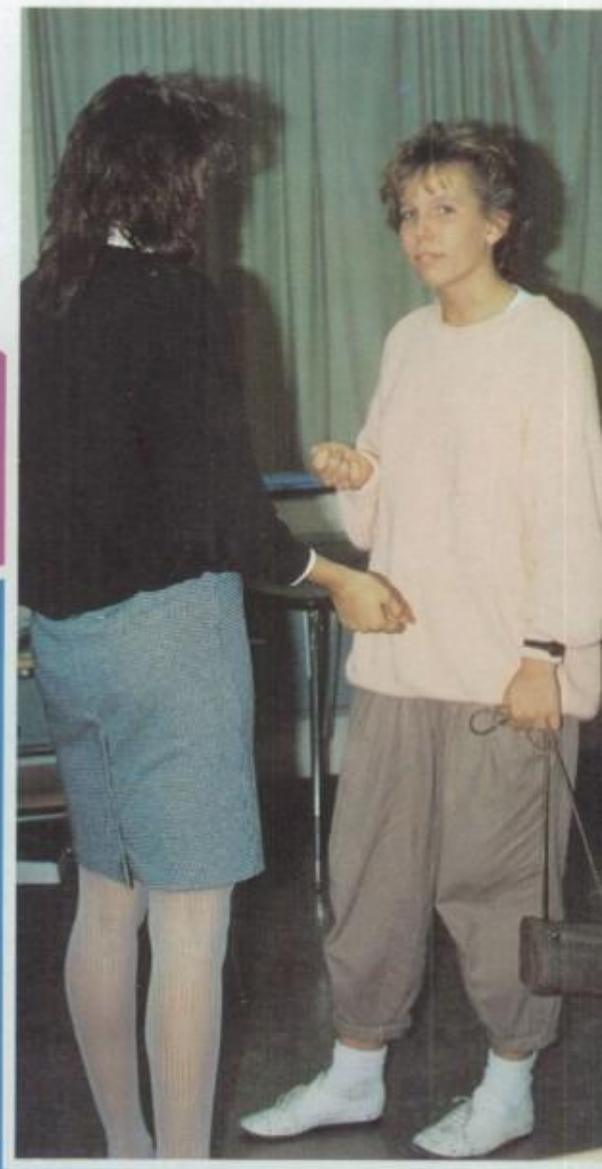
"Stop acting like Freshmen."
"For all practical purposes . . ."
"No bathroom or locker parades."
"Busy children are happy children."
"I don't want to beat a dead horse."
". . . or what have you."
". . . and hopefully we can all have a good year."
"This IS a silent study."
"Don't ask, do it."
". . . in an essay worthy of publication, elucidate on . . ."
". . . if you will."
"It's not my job, man."
"That's the nature of the beast."
"We don't give grades, you earn them."
"Hay preguntas? Any questions?"
"Take your books, notebooks, and other paraphernalia off your desk."
"Let's survey the chapter together."
"I don't have it corrected today, but I'll have it done for tomorrow."

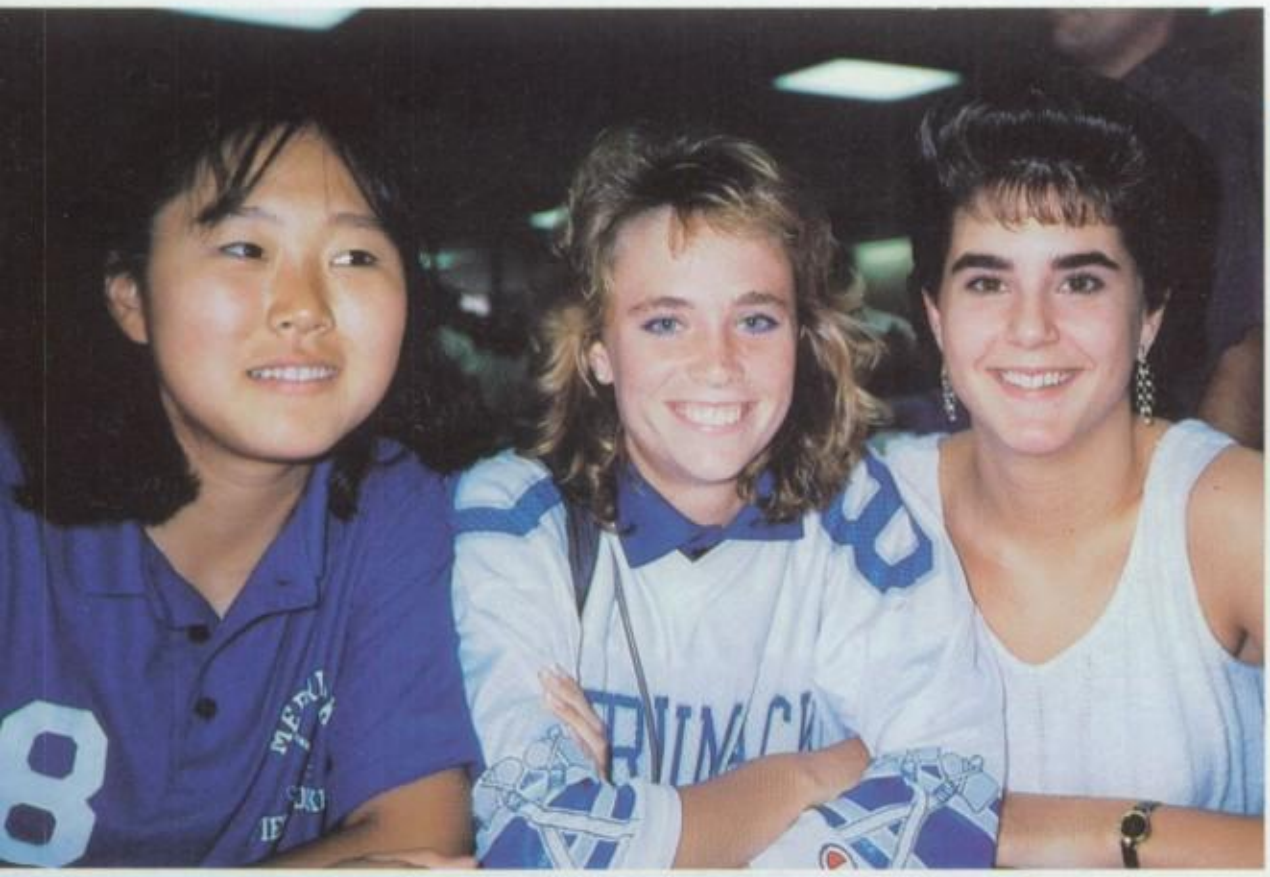


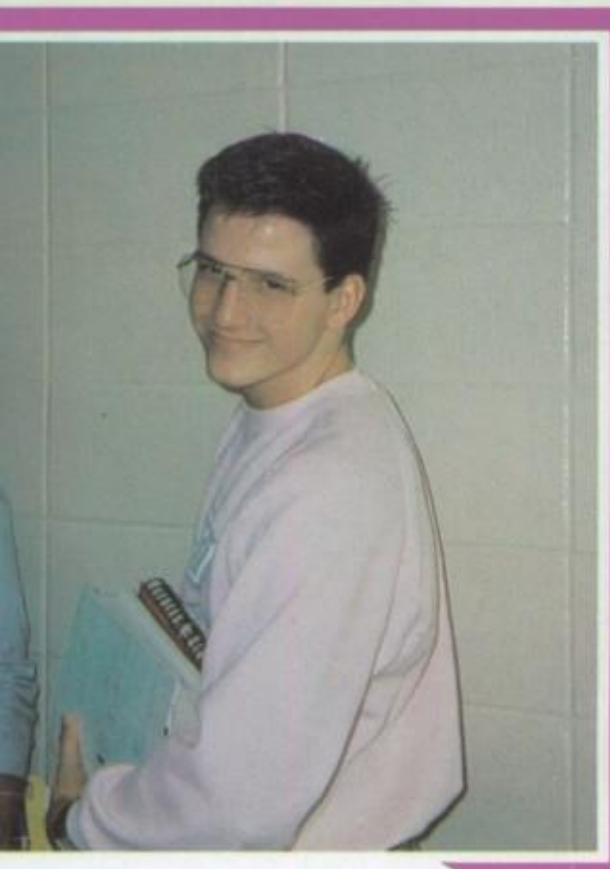
opp pg., top to bot: Jill Adams and Karen Buckley at the Peer Outreach weekend. Sun Chyung's enthused face. The picture of innocence. this pg: What did you say Dennis? Chris McGuire in her usual state-smiling. Pink hearts, yellow moons, orange stars, green clovers, blue diamonds, and purple horseshoes. A blooming friendship. Nicole Gaumont.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

In the four years that we've spent at MHS we can certainly say that we have lived through some of life's most embarrassing moments. The bulk of these embarrassing moments happened in our Freshman year. We remember walking into our classes ten minutes late because we had been searching frantically for the non-existant third floor. Those schedules were so confusing?! And who would have thought that a school could have three lunches in a row? Not knowing when to "stand up and yell" at the pep rallies was also not a fun experience. As Sophomores, we tried so hard to prove that we were NOT Freshmen any longer. However, it was just as easy to get into trouble. Public Display of Affection was one of our big problems. The most important day of our Junior year was the day of the prom. It was pretty shocking to see twenty other girls wearing the very same dress. As Seniors, we have come to realize that embarrassing moments are a part of life. We survive the moment and then laugh at them later on.







opp pg., top to bot: "Don't turn around." Tammy Sheridan and Jeff Gaumont cuddle in cafe. this pg: The Three Stooges. Teresa Ward caught off guard. Wayne gives another excuse. "The chicken burgers were what color?" "Please let me do well on this test." The nonchalant smile. Chris shows off his smile.

Eighty eight . . . Eighty eight . . . Eighty eight . . .

For the past four years, this has been the most important number in our lives. We've chanted it at pep rallies, painted it on spirit week posters, and looked forward to the day we could write it on the football field with pumpkins. As a double number (which only occurs every eleven years) it accurately reflects the double nature of our class; we have had twice the pride, twice the spirit, and twice the fun of previous classes. Nineteen eighty-eight is much more than a synonym for graduation, it is a number that symbolizes our special achievements at Merrimack High School, which makes our future appear twice as bright.

2 MERRIMACK SENIORS WIN STATE AWARDS

Ed Gerety and Jin Chyung, seniors at Merrimack High School, are the recipients of awards on the state level. By entering the Voice of Democracy Contest and winning for Merrimack High, Ed Gerety then competed with all the high school winners in New Hampshire. Upon receiving the state award, Ed travelled to Washington D.C. for a week where he met President Reagan. He also participated in a National Achievement Award in Nashville, Tennessee.

Jin Chyung was named the winner of the Century III Leader's Program from the State of New Hampshire. Century III recognizes students who exhibit leadership qualities through school and community activities. Jin was also required to take a current events examination and had to make a projection for the future of the United States. Jin received a $1,500 scholarship to continue her education and a trip to Colonial Williamsubrg, Virginia for the Century III Leaders National Meeting.

To the Class of 1988 I extend a most sincere congratulations. Four years have passed quickly and you have achieved a significant goal in life. As you go forth into adulthood cherish the past, remember your contributions to and accomplishments at Merrimack High School. Let them be the foundations for future success.

All through your life you will have choices — make them with wisdom. You will have challenges — meet them with eagerness and determination. Make a difference in the world by always being positive and productive. Care about your fellow human beings. Care about yourself. Give your best and be the best you can be at what you do.

May your life's ambitions and expectations be realized. Life is and will be what we make of it. Therefore, go forward with confidence. Each of you can contribute and help others contribute to our society. Remember this thought, "Those seeking happiness as a life goal will find it if they work at being useful."

Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to share the past four years with you.

Best Wishes,
Dennis J. Pope

OAHAWK PRIDE

UNITED WE STAND

DIVIDED WE FALL '87

Previous page, top to bottom, left to right: Seniors: Pat Richard, Steve Krazinski, Ken Barthuly, Trevor Lyman, Dennis Goodridge, Mike Harris, Dan Gilmore, Jason Hilton, Ed Gerety, Mark Kilbreth. Absent: Scott Spence and Dean Emerson. Ed Gerety blocking for Dean Emerson. The sign which hung on the practice field and symbolized the 1987 season. This page l to r, top to bottom: "United They Stood." The sack attack. The number 1 defense. The unstoppable offense. The 'Hawks only aerial t.d. of the season.

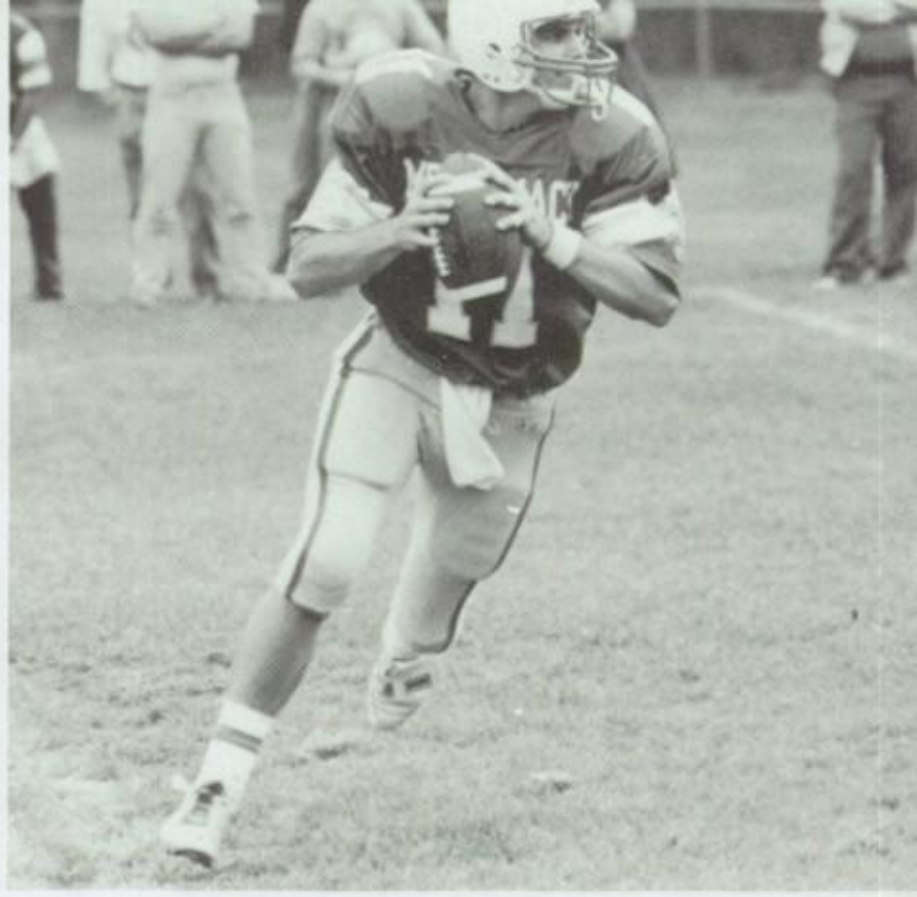
The 1987 football season began at the completion of the 1986 season. Dedication and hard work began and the results would be known only in November. It was only fitting that we began practice August 15 with the temperature in the 90's and ended on November 21st with the temperature and wind chill around —2 degrees. The leadership of the seniors and the commitment of the underclassmen led to a successful year. The dedication of the coaches, players and everyone associated with the program attributed to the year that was had. This team wanted to set standards for other Merrimack teams to follow, and they achieved that goal. We started with a sign on the practice field that read: "Tomahawk Pride 1987, United We Stand, Divided We Fall." It was very difficult to pick outstanding players, as we were a "team," not individuals. Many received awards at the end of the season, but realize this would not be possible if we did not play as a team. Each player, coach, manager, and cheerleader had only one goal in mind. We wanted perfection, and we got that. The championship banner that will be in the gym says it all:

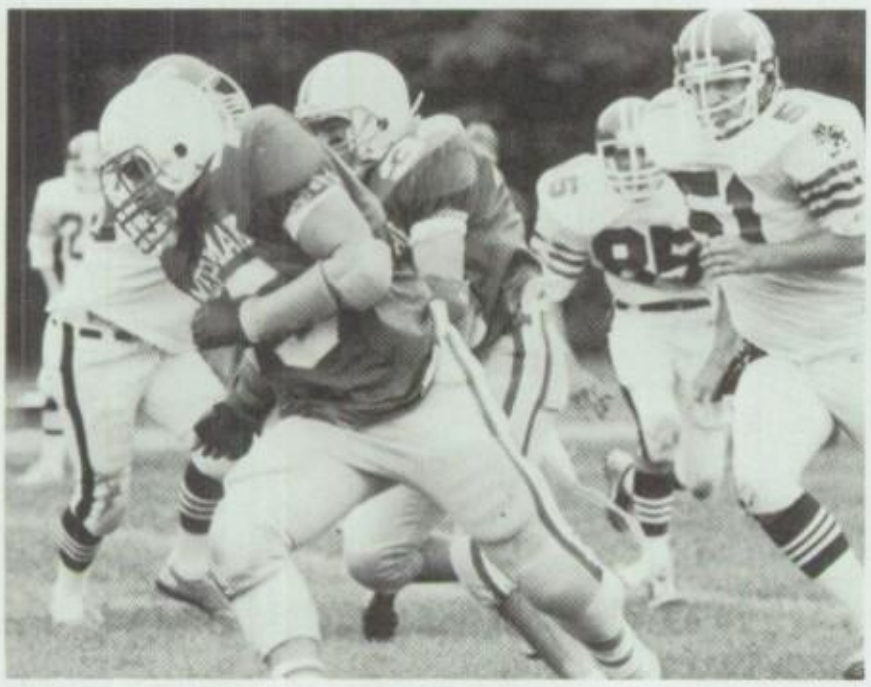
1987 DIVISION II FOOTBALL
CHAMPIONS
10-0-0
"UNITED WE STOOD"

— Coach Raycraft

At the start of a season most teams set a goal to be undefeated and even win a state championship. Of course this always starts out as a dream and for many teams ends on opening day. For the 1987 Tomahawks, the dream never stopped until it became reality. The Tomahawks were 10-0 and the state champions before that reality really dawned on most of them.

As every team in the past has done, the 1987 seniors set a goal to be state champions. However, this year they also agreed to work as a team. This was obvious, when, on the first day of practice they erected a sign saying "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." Neither the team nor the sign was ever lowered from that point. And for 13 players this was the last chance they had to be together and play together. And they lived this final chance to the most, together, and this greatly attributed to the 1987 "Dream Season."





The Junior Varsity football team had a very successful season. Their final record was 6-1-1. Both the offense and defense played well, and we can expect big things from this team in the years to come.

Previous page, left to right, top to bottom: Mark on the move. Dan O'Neil looking for a receiver. Pat looking for someone to turtle. Scott, the man of a thousand moves. Greg, you missed your block! Merrimack's answer to "The Fridge." Joe with the sack. Bob and Derek on the tackle. Great form Emo.
This page, l to r, top to bottom: Jay K with a good block from Trevor. The unity that made the team. O.B. at the water jug that saved many lives. Nice catch Ken! The receiving crew Ken Barthuly and Dan Gilmore. Would you want to have to face this?

The freshmen football team had a disappointing season as far as a record goes. The players improved every week but a lack of experience hurt. They were never out of any of their games, except one. Some of the strengths for the freshmen team included the offensive and defensive lines, and the monster back position. Overall, from a skills standpoint, the players improved from beginning to end.

— Coach Hoover

Left to right, top to bottom: Thanx for the block Pel. Good hand offs Dan or you'll get the yellow ball. That is illegal Mark. The awesome twosome. Smile Harry we're number 1. Eddie getting signals. C'mon let's have the play. Mr. Q.B. let me introduce Steve. Team, 8-10-8: remember?

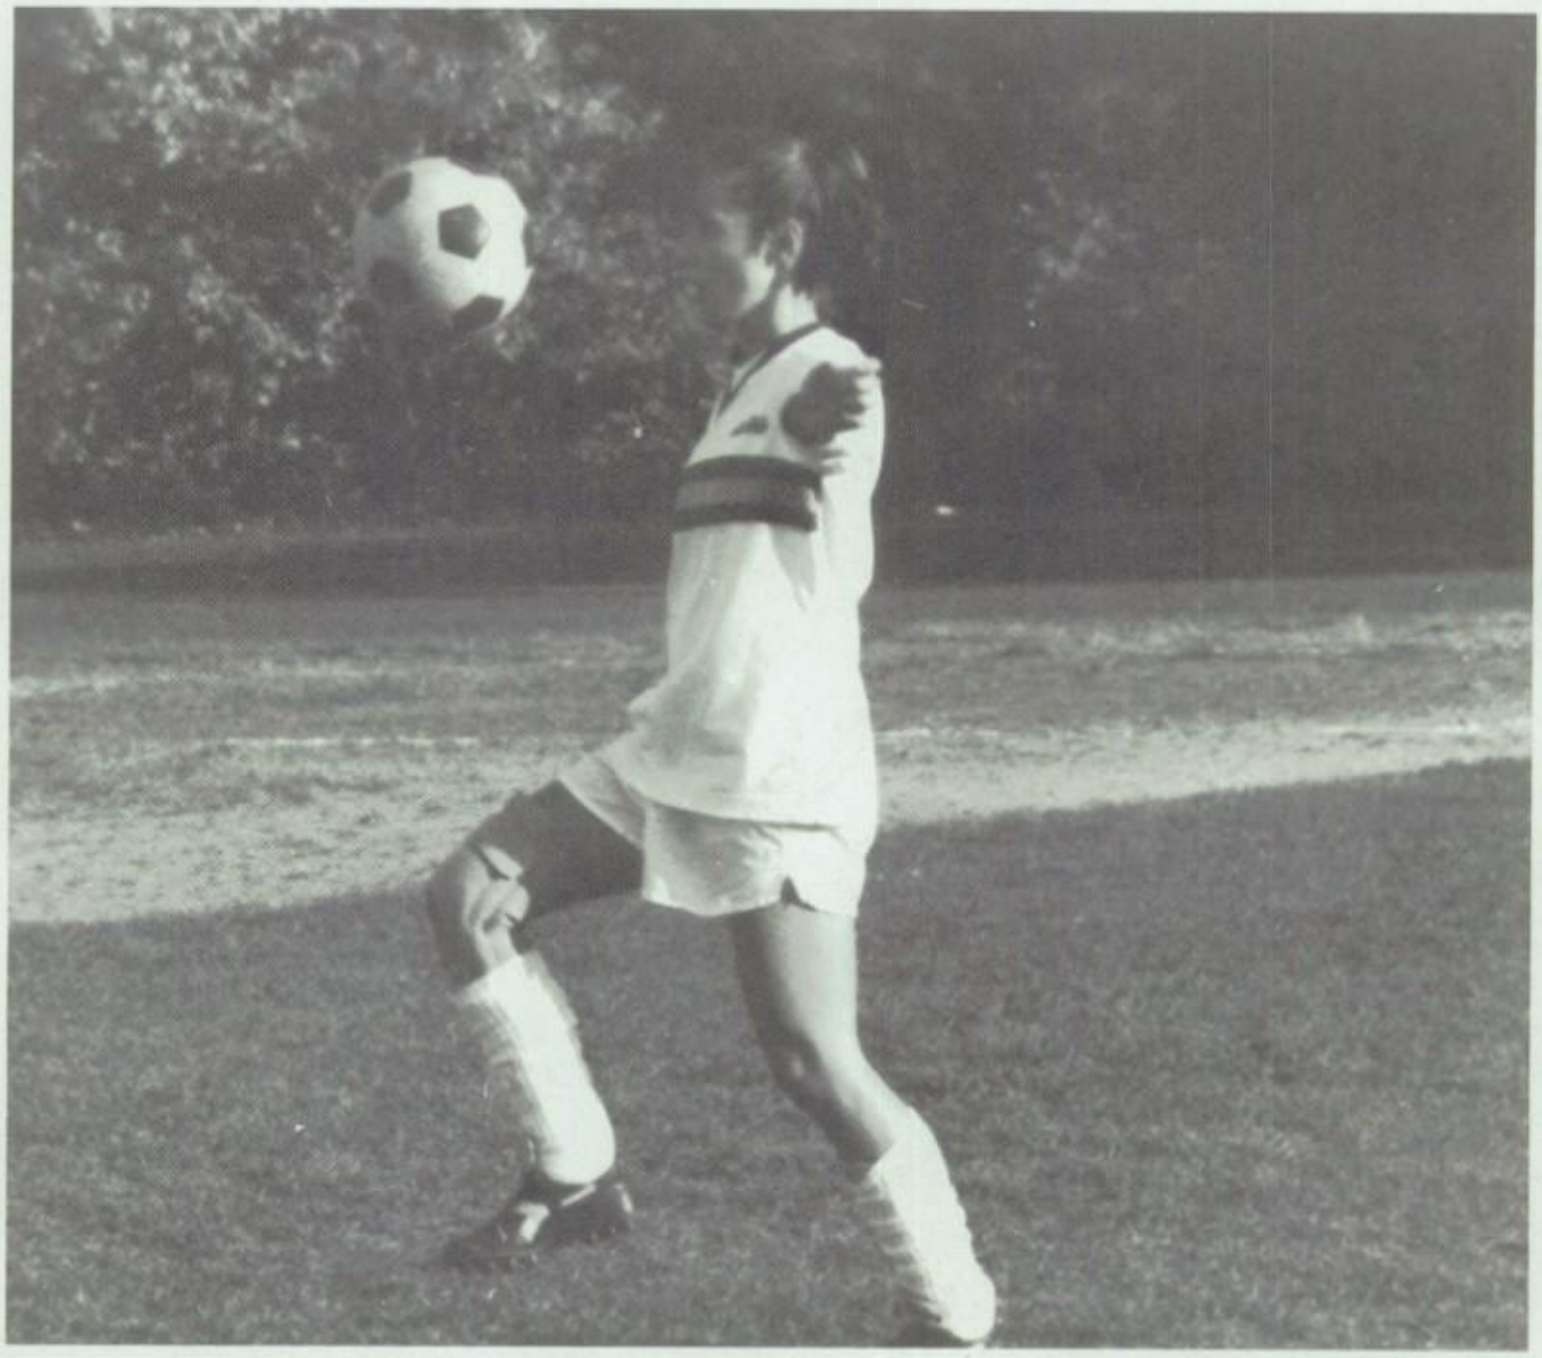
Putting Our Feet 2 The Test

SENIORS



The 1987 Soccer season could be summed up with one word, desire. Without a J.V. building program many players are playing competitive soccer for the first time, with former experienced players. The efforts of a summer soccer clinic and long, hot double sessions paid off with a tournament bid. The varsity team learned a lot about soccer but also about unity, spirit, and dedication. Merrimack girls soccer team's record didn't always tell the whole story. Merrimack was competitive in most of their matches, earning the respect from other varsity teams throughout the state.

This year's team really epitomizes what it means to peak at the right time. After starting off with a 3-4-2 record, the team went undefeated over its last six games, finishing at a strong 7-4-3 — good enough for eighth place in class L. This assured the team of home field in the first round of the tournament.

In the tournament, the boys beat Winnacunnet 1-0 to avenge one of their four regular season losses and move on to a quarter-final match-up against the number one team — Manchester West. What a game. It took 96 minutes for the game to be decided — regulation and two overtimes. The boys showed their best and proved they were one of the best teams in Class L.

Other highlights of the season include Alvirne 2-1 in overtime, and scoring more goals than we allowed. We also beat the number two-ranked Pinkerton 2-1. Defensively we allowed eleven less goals than the year before.

The boys overcame many obstacles this year to reach their goals. We lost four players before the season started who would have been starters. We only had four regular starters for four regular season games. Though it was tough, the team stayed together. A truly remarkable season by a truly remarkable bunch of kids. As always, thanks for everything guys. Learn from this season, apply those things to your lives, work hard, and reach for the maximum. Best of luck in the future. Underclassmen — get ready to do your best next year. Until then . . .

Coach West

The Merrimack junior varsity soccer team did not have a super season, but that did not stop this team from going out at every game trying to do their best. This team worked hard every practice and game because they knew that maybe next year they would make the varsity team. Even though J.V. did not have a winning season, they were always there, they never gave up. This is half of the battle.

Freshman year is a year of learning, teaching, trying and hopefully succeeding. Merrimack's freshman soccer team this year has done those things. With a new coach, they learned more of the game, they were a good group to teach and they never gave up all season. Their success if arguable, but that is not what is important. Doing your best is!

In our memories, certain aspects of the 1987 Field Hockey season will shine brighter than others. It's not the winning or the losing that will be important. What will be remembered is how each of us grew personally from our shared experience. It was a season of improvement in relationship to performance, but moreover it was a season of sharing, learning, caring and having fun. The spirit and dedication of everyone on the team continues to make Field Hockey a unique and enriching experience. Finally, to the seniors — THANK YOU and good-luck in whatever the road brings you. More than you could imagine, you will be missed!

The J.V. Field Hockey team was one of enthusiasm, boisterousness and determination. Their record did not show how hard they actually worked. They went into every game not worrying who they were going to play but how they were going to beat them. It was a tough year, but it was a fun year!

Running 2 Extra Miles

The 1987 season was a successful season for everyone. We started the season with 13 boys and 8 girls. The team became progressively better as the season went on. We surprised a lot of teams with some outstanding team performances. Although cross-country is not known as a spectator sport, we encourage anyone to come to a meet anytime during the season and watch your fellow classmates run to a victory!

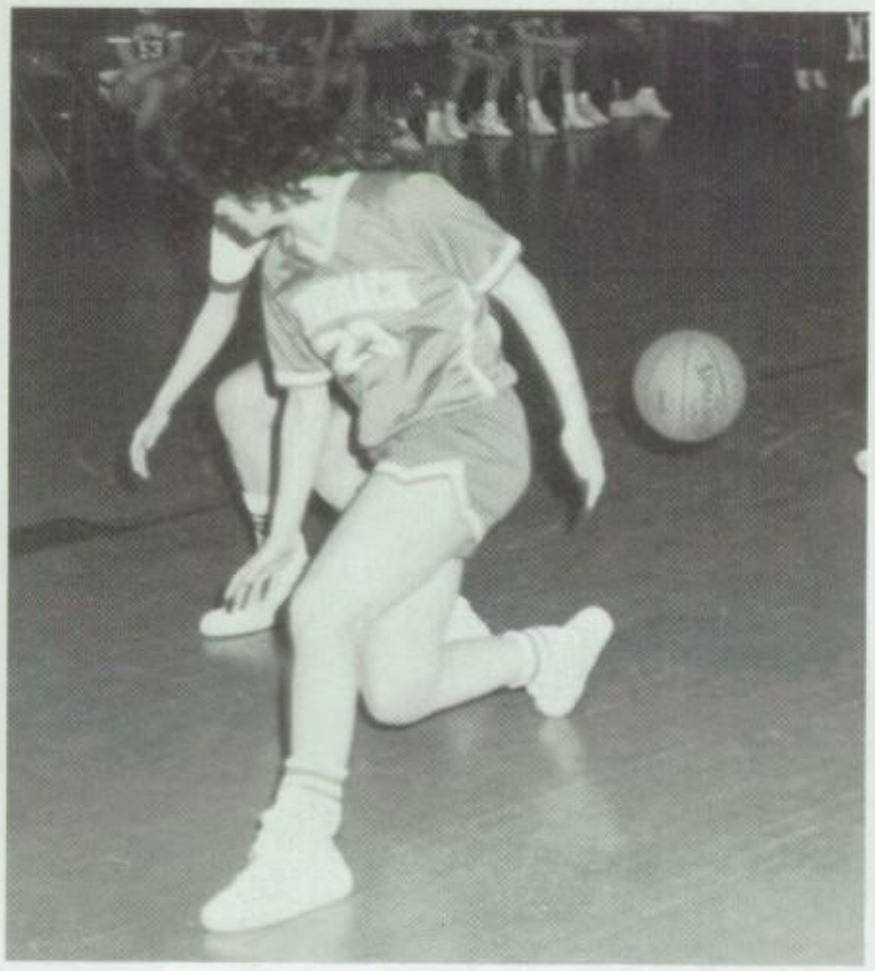
SWISHING SWEETNESS

Now Kim, take the ball and slam it. L tc R: Laura Gannon, Shannon Tinker, Gretchen Farland, Kristie Lapaglia, Jodi Gannon, Dawn Hermann, Wendy Lemarche, Betsy Gilmore, Laura Boardman, Debbie Nute, Leeann Theriault. Good Hoop. It's not that bad, is it?

After some early season disappointment, the 87-88 MHS girls' Varsity basketball team pulled together as a unit to amass a 10-8 regular season record. Overcoming a decided height disadvantage, the girls' determined defensive effort and hard work paid off over Alvirne. As they continue to challenge themselves, the future looks bright for Girls' Basketball at MHS.

l to r Trying for the Swat. A perfect "10." The peanut gallery. Up for grabs. Star gazing? Leap Frog. Uh! Oh! AAhhh!



The J.V. girls basketball team did not have an outstanding year but did have a building year. The team consisted mostly of Sophomores who will be the building block of future Varsity teams. J.V. consists of learning basketball skills that are then used in training for Varsity. It is a growing experience and hopefully a good one.

l to r Good position. Grab it. Who's got it? Up, Up and away. Get out of my way! Kristie, where's the ball? Straight line girls, Fly! be free.

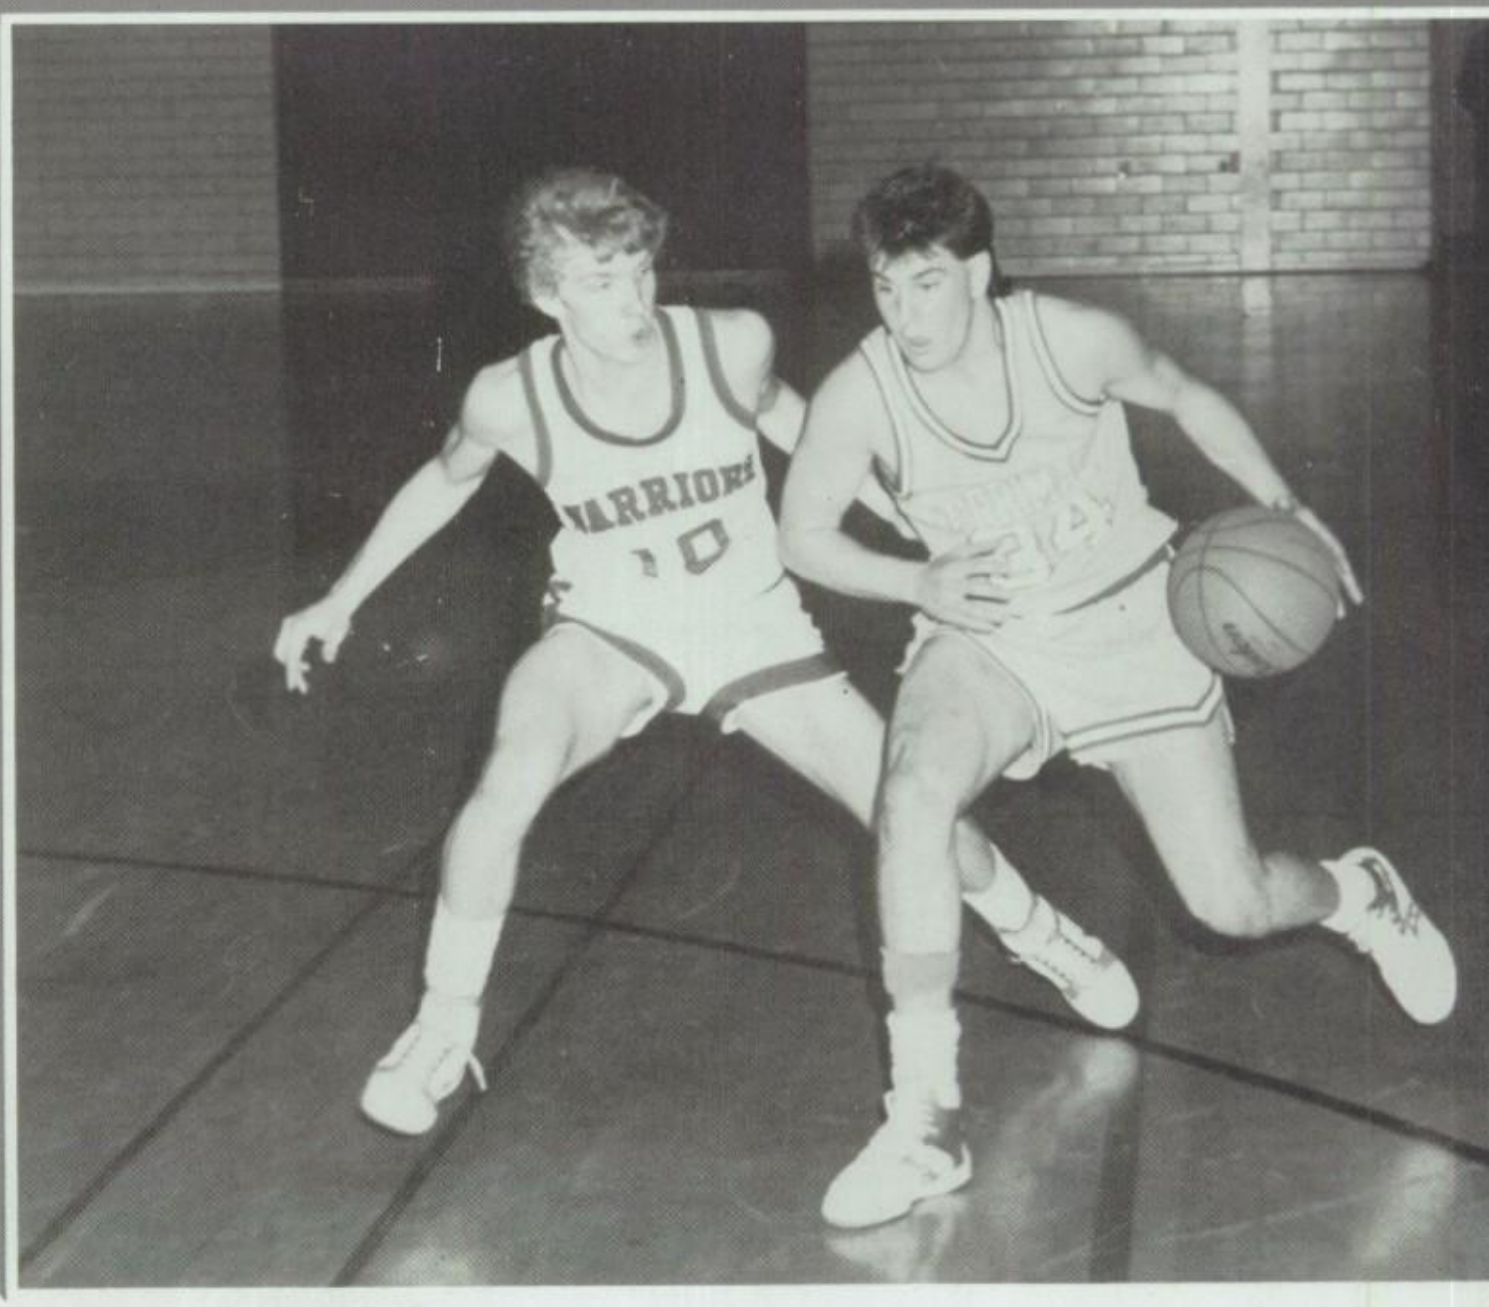
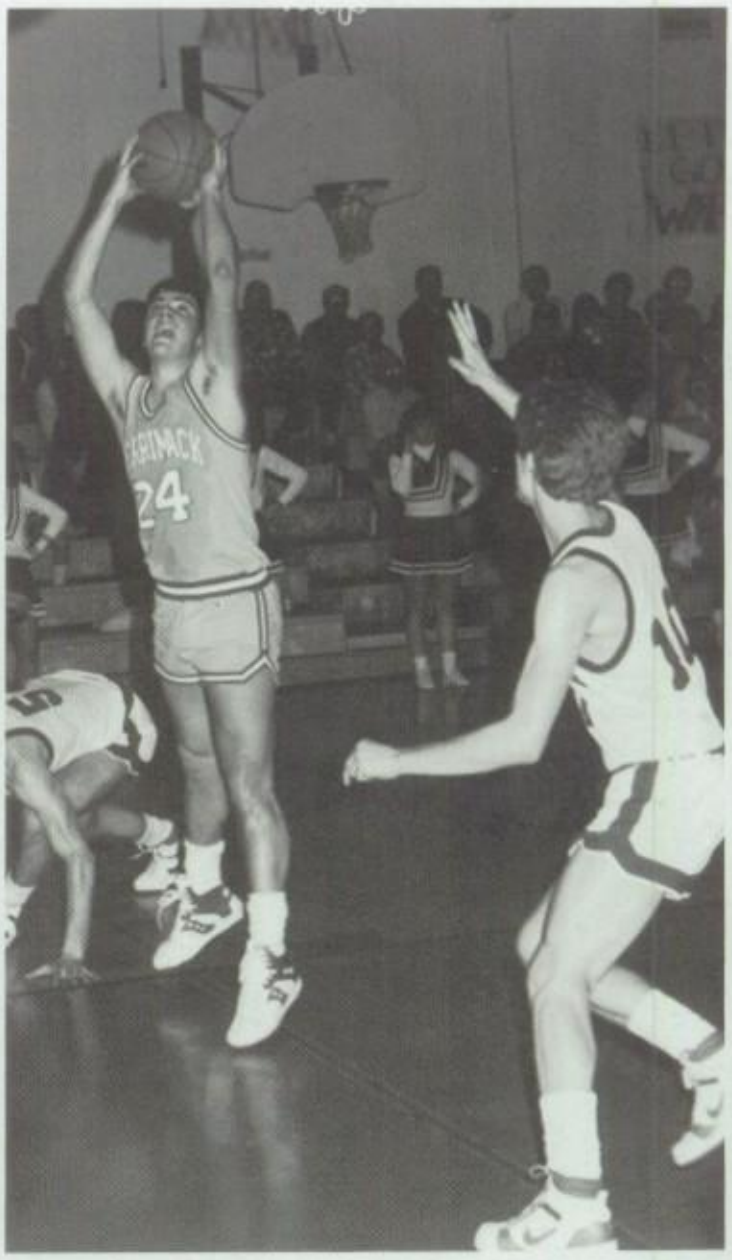
BREAKING BOUNDARIES

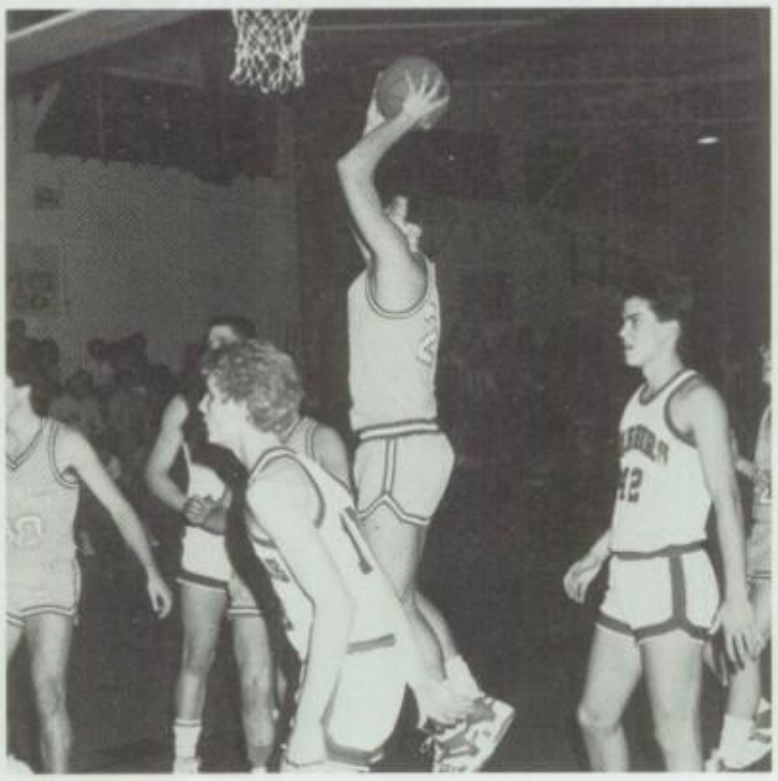


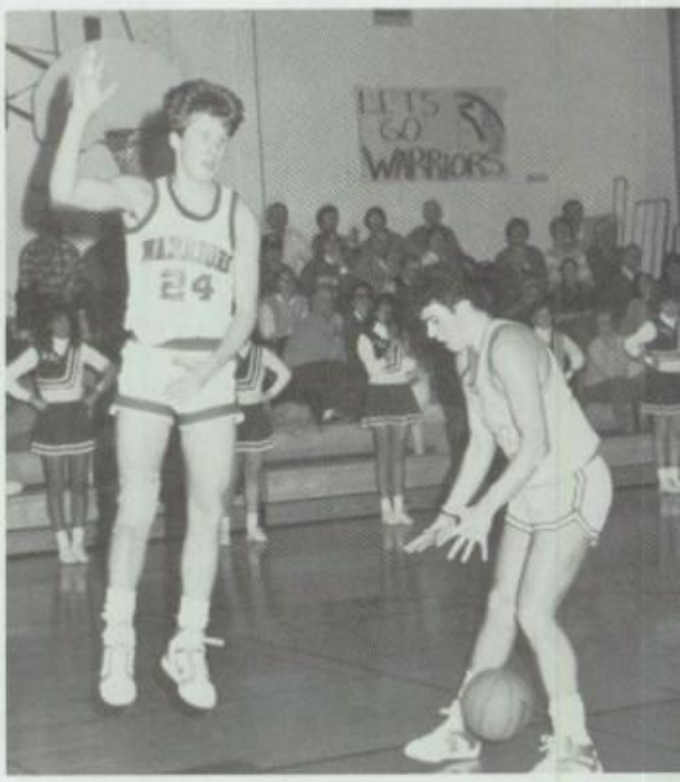
Drive Emo, drive. L to R. The Managers, Peter Perrault, Bill Pollock, Gregg Lineman, Steve Schaefer, Tom Thornton, Rich Murray, Dan Gilmore, Dean Emerson, Ken Barthuly, Dan O'Neil, Jeff Rose. Hey, no pushing! Shot! The fact of the matter is . . .

Injuries and sickness played a major role in the teams inconsistency this year. The record without injury or sickness was 5-2. The team had a 5-game winning streak which included a good win over Nashua at Nashua. After the fifth win, though, injury and sickness reared its ugly head again for the Milford game. From this game on the team was never at full strength again. After the tough overtime loss to Milford, the team traveled to Winnacunnet and had a tough 4 point loss there. After that game the team faced the "Iron" of class L. We faced Concord, Salem, Pinkerton, Central, Memorial, and Alvirne, in that order. Overall, despite all of the adversity, the boys played hard in every game and never gave up for an instant. With the experience of the team and the good, young talent coming up the boys program looks very promising for future years. Al Simoes.

l to r Dribble with 1 hand, not 2. Gregg don't swat Tom. Going for the rebound. Taking a trip to the hoop. This is not time for wrestling.







Stick it! Use the glass. Another time out? Catching flies? Acrobatic shooting. Up for the hoop, Butterfingers. What do I do now? Showdown.

Like the varsity, the J.V. boys' basketball team did not have an outstanding season as far as their record goes. The team did, however, continue to improve as each game went along.

The goal for a J.V. team is not necessarily to boast a great record but to improve their fundamentals for the Varsity level. This team achieved this and looks very promising for future seasons.

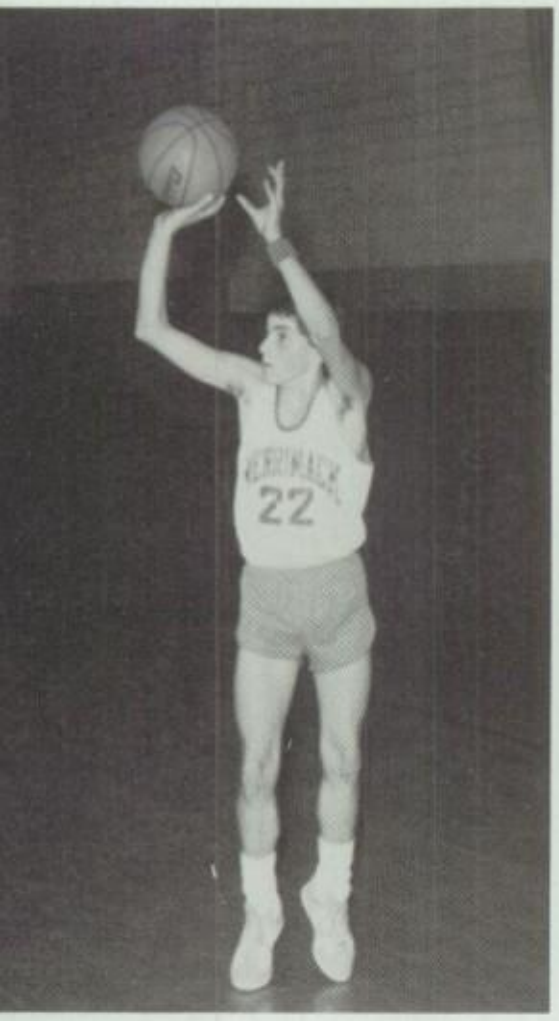
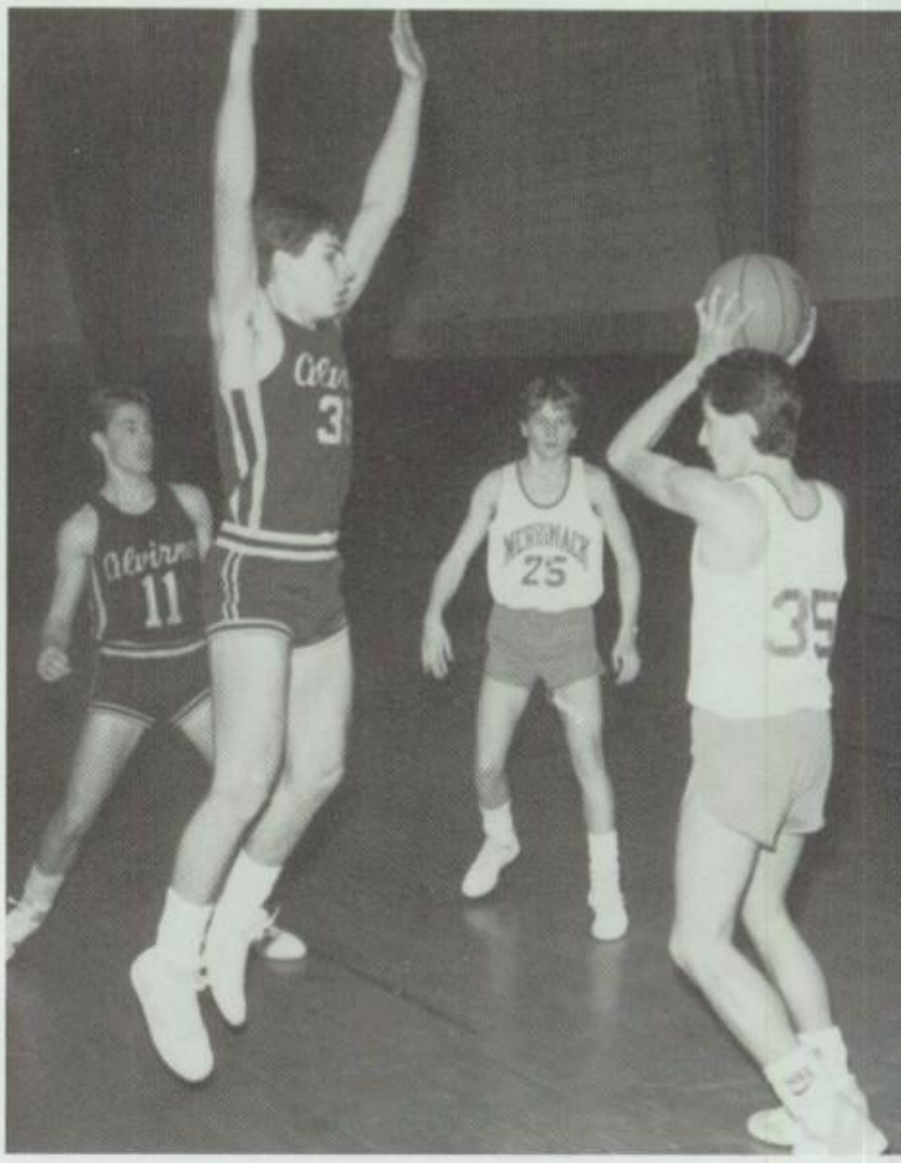
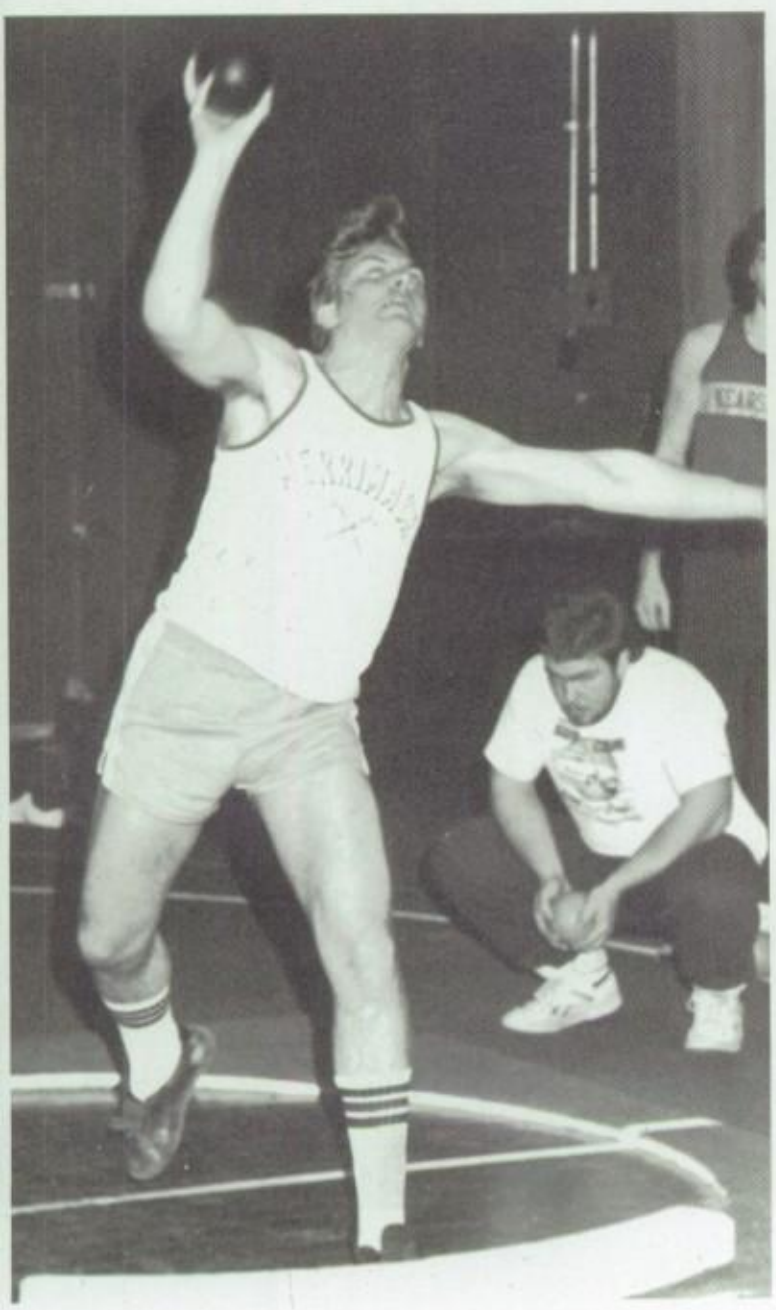
L to R: Manager, Griffin Daly, Derek Brewer, Eric Werner, Jeff Smith, Jim Boardman, Daryl Collette, Matt Rubin, J. J. Schaeffer, Matt Godbout, Chad Wilson, Jim Laborn, Manager. Eli "Bird". One-handed shot. Face rake. Where should I pass? You are surrounded. Good fake.





The Freshman boys basketball team had an exceptional year. Their record was 12-3 and two of the three losses were only by 2 points. Even though freshman year is supposed to be a building year, these boys have already proved that they can play the game very well. Hopefully their enthusiasm for the game will carry over in their future years playing for M.H.S.

FLYING FREE



For the fifth year in a row the MHS Indoor Track Club had athletes qualify for the State Meet. This year the meets were held at Dartmouth College, and a total of 16 boys and girls competed.

Even though crazy people run in the snow and cold to train, they have a lot of fun. The highlight of the season was the State Meet held on January 30, 1988 at Dartmough. Competing for MHS were: Scott Spence — 55m Dash, Long jump, Chuck Pivetz — 55m, 300m, 600m, Matt White — 55 Hurdles, 600m, Long Jump. And Sean Frazier who ran the relay with the other three. The results of the State Meet were fantastic. The MHS Club placed 9th out of 26 teams, highlighted by Matt White's 3rd place in the Long Jump and Chuck Pivetz's 2nd place in the 600m, and 3rd place in the 300m. The members of the club would like to especially thank Mr. and Mrs. McMann for their help. And special thanks to our coach, Mr. Snell.

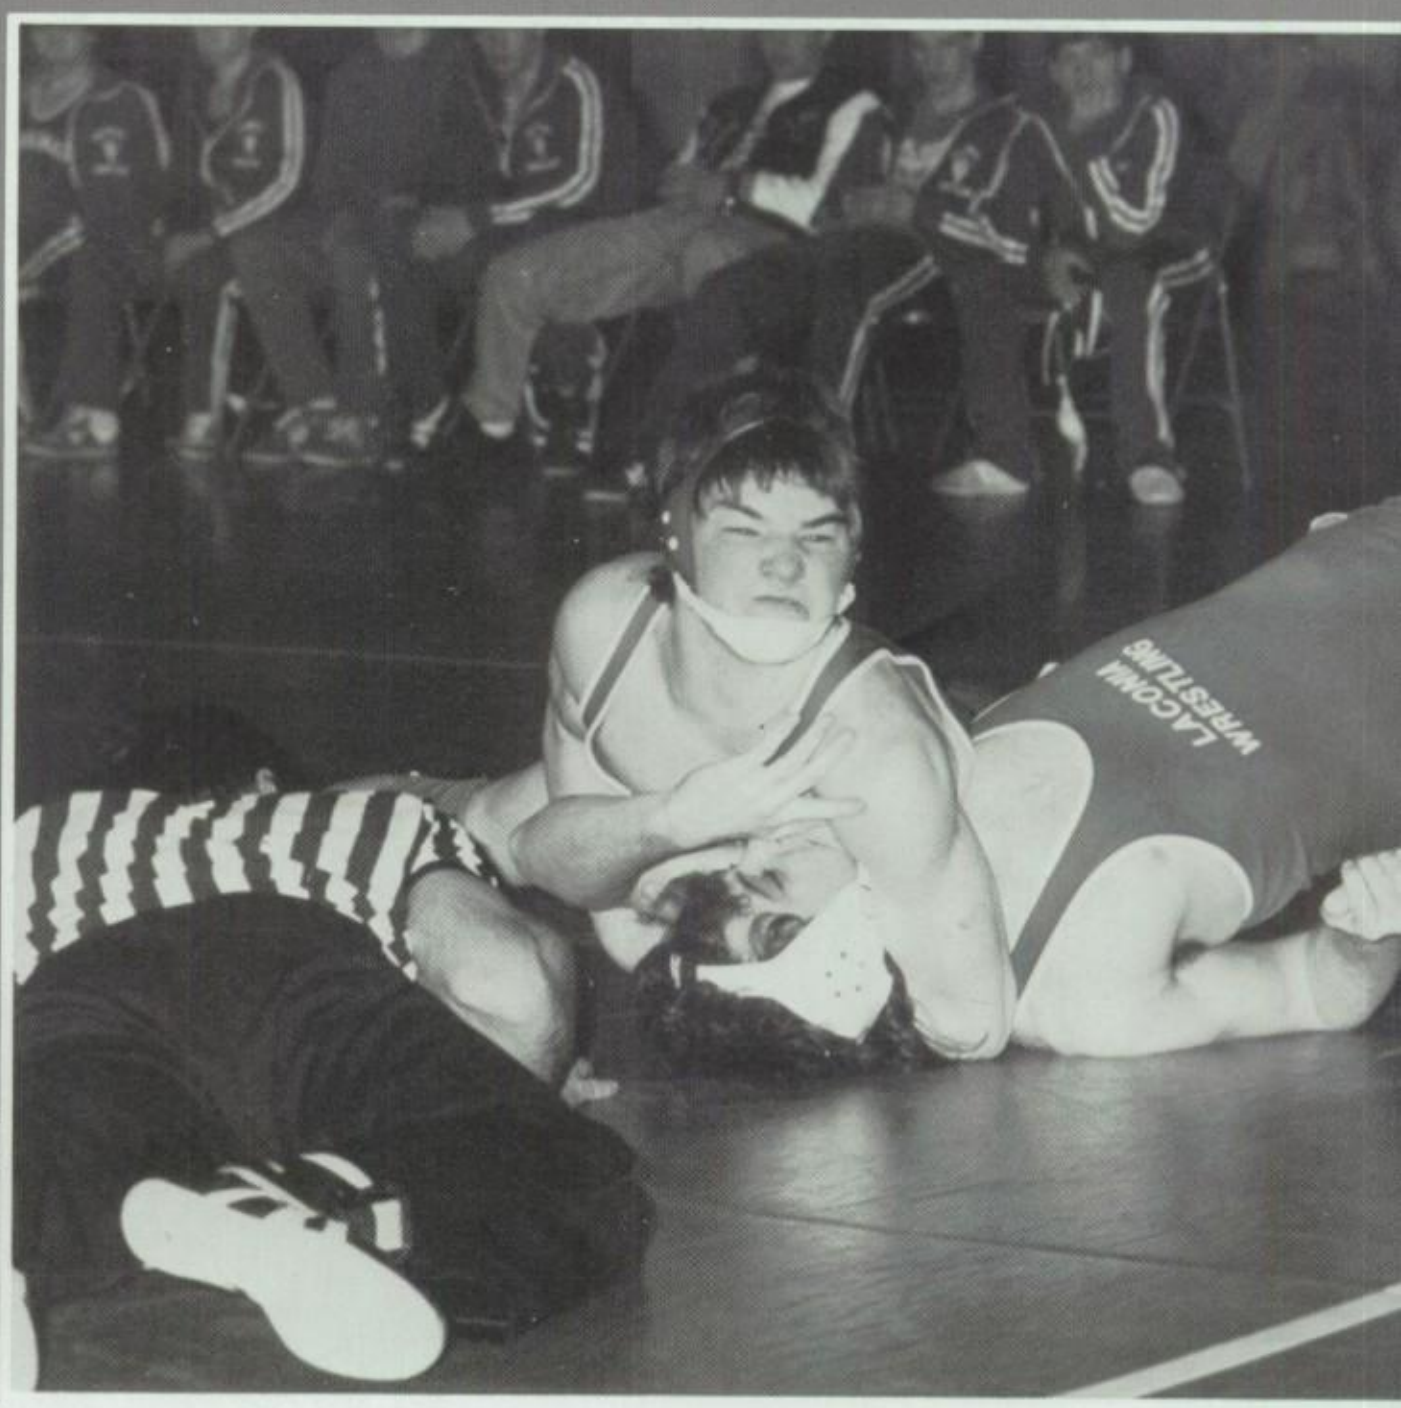
WORLD-CLASS WRESTLING



The wrestling team is one of M.H.S.'s teams which may be overlooked, at times, by most people, and this should not be the case. The wrestling team has worked hard all year both in regular and off-season. The team had a good year being led by Jason Hilton, P.D. Worcester, Donald Tupper and Rob Howe. The team has many young wrestlers that hopefully will perform well in their future years.

MOUNTAIN MADNESS

The ski team had a fun year trying their skis on the slopes. There were not very many meets, but the ones they did have they were very successful. The seniors played a large role in the enthusiasm of the team. Many underclassmen have learned skills this year to carry them on to many more successful years.

ACTIVITIES

TAKE ME AS I AM
MAY 29, 1987

It was a night we had planned and dreamed about for weeks. On May 29, 1987 we drove to the Sheraton Tara in limos and sports cars. It was a warm romantic evening and everyone was so excited they barely touched their dinner. After all pictures were taken the court was chosen: Nichole Barbuto, Jodi Gannon, Kim Ritchie, Janice Williams, Kelly Smith was the Queen. After the crowning all danced to the Prom theme "Take Me as I Am." It was a night to remember.

HOMECOMING '87

Homecoming is that great tradition that comes at a time in the year when most of us are still sporting our summer tans and haven't been hit with the reality of regulations, surprise tests and irregular verb conjugations. It's a time for us to raise our school spirit. For the Freshmen, Homecoming is a brand new experience in a brand new environment. For the Seniors, it's a celebration to kick off their final year. For the entire student body, it's a lot of fun. No matter who wins or loses, Merrimack High will always come out on top.

HAWKS

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is a day of disguise and silliness. It doesn't matter if a costume is store-bought or homemade. Everything from the standard graveyard ghoulie to something totally original roams the halls, making people wonder who is the head of cabbage or Frankenstein. Some teachers return to their youth and create ensembles that are stranger than those that some of their students are wearing. Whether you spend the day looking at the costumes or wearing one, Halloween is fun for everyone.

t-b, l-r: Spirit has hit the Seniors! Originality is great, isn't it? The couple of the year, Mr. Roy and Kim. And I thought that Yoda was short! Christmas already? . . . Isn't it Halloween?

GODSPELL

This year's dramatic production was the rock musical, "Godspell." For three nights, the cast entertained audiences using lively songs and dances in modern interpretation of Bible stories. Outrageous, colorful costumes, coupled with the fact that one player often played more than one role, gave the show an abstract quality, allowing the play to have a different meaning for each viewer. "Godspell" was certainly not your ordinary high school production. The cast and crew deserve another hand for taking on such a task and carrying it off so well.

The Senior Semi-Formal

The senior semi-formal was held on February 6, 1988. Tradition was broken and the semi was held at the Hilton — not at the high school as was the original plan. It was a special night that was enjoyed by all. For the first time in many years, the senior semi-formal was a big success.

SPIRIT WEEK

Remember how we laughed at all the incoming freshman classes when they didn't participate in Spirit Week? Dig back and remember because our class has experienced it, too. As Freshmen, we thought Spirit Week was a joke: "Upperclassmen won't dress up, ride around in a big wheel or participate in a pie eating contest just for so called 'Spirit Points.' There is no way!" We experienced it for the first time and we learned. Maybe this is the attitude that makes Freshmen lose each year and the experience that allows the Seniors to win. Spirit Week in not a time to compete with other classes, rather, a time to relax and have fun.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

CHARACTER LEADERSHIP SERVICE SCHOLARSHIP

In the past year the National Honor Society has exemplified the qualities for which they were first selected. The organization is an active service group which tries to better the community. Throughout the year they organized a dinner for the senior citizens of Merrimack and a blood drive, and they worked in an American Heart Association telethon. As individuals, some members tutored other students in the school. They had three fundraisers to raise money for scholarships. The 1987-1988 National Honor Society hopes the flames of character, service, leadership, and scholarship which they passed onto the newer members at induction will continue to burn brightly.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is made up of seven elected representatives from each class and four elected officers and is led by an advisor, Miss Buckmore. Once a month, all the representatives have a meeting to discuss the latest issues. We are always willing to take every suggestion seriously, so if anyone has any ideas, bring them to your representative.

Traditionally, we start off the year with the Homecoming Pep Rally and Homecoming Dance. Then throughout the year, we host various activities so that classes can earn spirit points. March is the busiest month of the year. One week in March, we organize Spirit Week. Besides these major events, we try to raise spirit and help the student body any way we can.

This year has been a busy, yet very productive year. Homecoming came earlier than usual, but was just as much of a success as previous ones. We finally got the salad bar for the school. The salad bar has been a year long project, but it proved to be a success. In October, we put on a Halloween Costume Day. At Thanksgiving, our canned-food drive broke all records in MHS! In December, we celebrated the Christmas season with our annual door decorating contest, and in January, we had class color day. In February everyone got a heart! And then in March came everyone's favorite week, Spirit Week.

We can always use your suggestions so that we may better represent the student body.

HOST STUDENT COMMITTEE

Picture this: You're a new student. You just moved here from far away and it's your first day at Merrimack High. You haven't met many people and you are totally unfamiliar with your new school. Yet, you are expected to follow the schedule you were just handed and actualy find each class on time. In this situation, you would probably be extremely thankful to the Host Student Committee. They personally lead each new student from class to class and familiarize him with the school. This is a friendly welcome which helps new students adjust better and feel more at home. Besides this, the members of this committee help in the guidance office. Their organization allows the guidance department to give better, faster help to all students.

CO-OP

Coop. Business and Office Education is a program for seniors in the Business Department who attend classes in the morning to fulfill their school requirements and go out to work in the business world in the afternoons, earning school credit for both the class instruction in Office Assistant Class and their hours of work. In addition, they are paid an hourly wage by the employer, and participate in many of their work site benefits. Students Against Driving Drunk is working to insure the safety of everyone by discouraging people form driving while intoxicated. But how do we accomplish this goal? We mainly get our message across with advertising. Pins, t-shirts, bumper stickers, and radio and television broadcasts express our concern for one of the nation's biggest problems. We have gained widespread support of the student body, shown by the ever-growing membership of our organization and by the support we receive in our activities. Among the most popular activities is the SADD Dance Marathon which raised money to prevent drunk driving at the prom and at graduation. Some money was shared with other organizations who support our cause. We hope that everyone will accept and share our message so that the lives of many may be saved.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA

Yeah, you all know who DECA is. They are the people who hold back the hungry mob as they unlock the door to the school store. There is more to this organization, however, than most students see. In addition to managing the sale of products in the school store, there is inventory, product orders, and other record keeping. DECA is also a class in which students may earn business credit points. Finally, DECA competes annually in a competition with schools from all over the nation.

Guest speakers, such as Mrs. Nelson and Peggy Gilmore, discuss with the group the diverse fields of education, including an ever-expanding frontier in teaching methods. In addition to these discussions, the group investigates the real education environment in a field trip to Mastricola Elementary school in October and one to Thornton's Ferry Elementary School at the end of the year.

The world is made up of two kinds of people: leaders and followers. The leaders are only a few people with a skill to organize and persuade. Future Business Leaders of America in Merrimack High is one division of a national organization to help students develop their leadership skills so that they may find successful careers as leaders. The group attends state conferences and hosts civic and school activities to sharpen their potential expertise. Someday the world might recognize these faces as influential leaders.

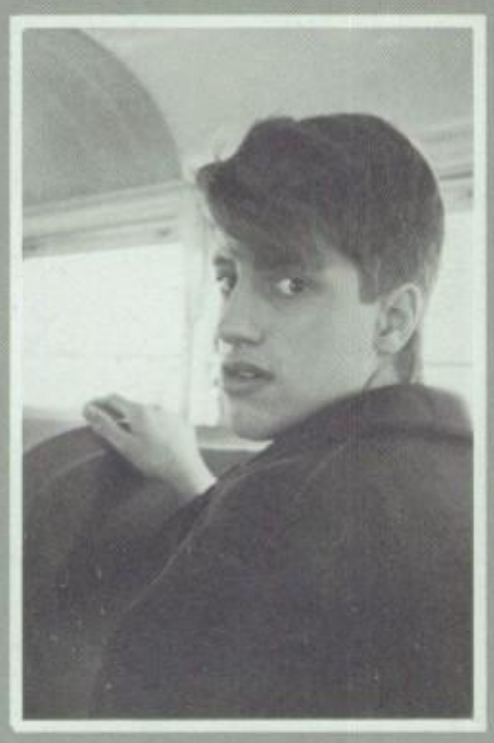
MATH COMPETING TEAM



Math team? How boring! Who would want to go to a math meet? Well, just ask anyone who's ever been on one and you'll see it's not boring as you might think. You ride to another school on a bus where you and your friends talk and munch on the food you bought at the store. When you get to the school, the group meets in a cafe to hear a few introductory bad jokes. Then it's off to take your tests. Nine questions total — that's all. After the tests, echoes of "How many did you get right?" and "Are you on the A team?" and "I almost had it!" can be heard through the halls. Then it's another fun ride home.

Mock Trial combines drama and realistic law practice into a bloody court battle. The team consists of a prosecution and defense, each containing four lawyers and several witnesses. The idea is to convince a jury of the guilt or innocence of a convict. To achieve this goal, the witnesses must develop their character and be prepared to answer any question they may be asked. The lawyers must organize all the facts with actual law and physical evidence to arrive at a strong, well-structured case. This year the case is an 1800's witch trial where two women are convicted of being witches who cast spells on two young girls. The MHS team is competing with six other teams for the state championship. The winner will move on to national competition. The group's main objective this year, is to beat West High, who just barely defeated MHS in an intense trial last year.

YOUTH AND GOVERNMENT

Youth and Government is a pro gram sponsored by the YMCA whic sets up a complete pseudo government on the state level. Th group meets throughout the year an discusses the major social and dome tic issues of the times. The membe ponder a possible solution to a prob lem and propose bills. Then, on weekend in spring, the groups state wide organize into districts and decid on a position for each bill. The state house in Concord fills with preten Senators, Congressmen, press, Su preme Court justices and lawyers, an a governor. Debates continue o weekend, sometimes until 3 AM while bills are supported, cut down signed into law, or thrown out th window. A newspaper, complet with biased reporters, prints article and editorials of the issues. The pro and cons for each bill are brought ou by enthusiastic speakers while thos who take no stand fall asleep in chai — it's just like the real governmen After 72 hours of this intense proces several participants are chosen t compete on a national level in Wash ington.

ATLANTIS

row 1: Scott Spiegel. missing; Amanda Holt, Christie Lombard, Jen Caulfield, Nicole Barbuto, Chris Caron, Samantha Kinney — GONE TO ATLANTIS. advisor: Mr. Ehrlich.

Odyssey of the Mind (OM) is an organization that challenges students to solve a problem as creatively as they can. This year the three problems are Atlantis, Gift of Flight and Classics . . . It's Showtime. Each team is given a different problem to solve. Atlantis team members must design an underwater vessel with remote arms that will collect artifacts and sea samples from Atlantis and to create a scenario which includes a sea monster and a criss. Gift of Flight team members must design and build six paper airplanes that each perform a different task. Classics . . . It's Showtime team members must choose a classic play and convert it to a musical. The many hours of work contributed by each team are supervised by an advisor who could not help in the actual solving of the problem, but only guide the team.

IMPROVDA

Can you believe that Improvda first started one year ago? You'd never even suspect it since Improvda is probably the hottest selling newspaper in Merrimack. Well, in order for the issues to come out, infinite hours of work had to be done. Yes, most of you see only the final product, but have you ever wondered what the process of production is like? If so, Improvda always needs help. The first thing we do is collect articles. Drafts, drafts, and more drafts are done. After they have been edited, they are typed into the computer. All the articles are then printed out so that we can start lay-outs. The staff sometimes stays after until 8:00 to finish these graphic designs. Such intense work periods may continue for several days, until the paper is ready to print. It is very time consuming, especially typing the ever-so-popular personals! The advisor, Mrs. Hickey, is very knowledgeable in journalism. Last year we placed second in a school newspaper contest. This year we're trying hard to be first!

PEER OUTREACH

The main objective of Peer Outreach is to provide a confidential group to listen to and support students with their problems or concerns. It doesn't matter what a fellow student wants to talk about, they will listen. The ideal goals of the group are to: 1. provide a caring person to talk to who will listen, 2. provide information of professional help that a student might need, 3. help better the student's opinion of himself, 4. offer support to alcoholics and drug addicts, 5. prepare elementary and middle school students for the pressures of high school and discourage them from drug and alcohol abuse, 6. better the school's environment by increasing spirit and morale. Since this is the first year for this program, the entire group went on a training weekend in October. They learned how to recognize problems and emergencies and how to respond to these situations. Nobody should have to endure pain alone, so Peer Outreach leaders offer to students a relationship of trust and confidence.

I'll bet most of you reading this book haven't given much thought to how much work it takes to put one of these together. As any member of the yearbook staff could tell you, it's more than it may seem. The last few days before a deadline don't offer much time to rest. Instead they demand late nights of drawing layouts, typing articles, and identifying people in pictures. However, the work isn't all bad. Just ask Jin how fun taking pictures can be. Also, it presents an exciting challenge — to take a blank page and fill it with memories of an entire year as creatively as possible — to do something new and not lose track of the details. With the right combination of creativity, hard work, and good times, the staff can put together the best book and have fun doing it.

Someone once said, "A picture is worth a thousand words." If that is true, the music department cannot be explained in a thousand words. These pictures show a bunch of kids who sing or play instruments, but the music department at Merrimack High is so much more. It is a gathering of friends each and every day of the year. It doesn't last just one season, but from August to June. It is people who will laugh and cry with you. Before and after band rehearsals are almost more fun than rehearsing. Breaks from jazz band would not be the same without cookies, soda, stupid jokes, and the stones. The music department at Merrimack High School is a family — and if that wasn't always the case, it was in 1987-88 without a doubt.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

In its second year of existence at MHS, the FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION is going from strength to strength. It should be noted at this point that FOTLA exists only at the high school and any other like-named organizations are merely fraudulent imitations.

The group that began as a conference-room joke has become one of MHS's most important and exclusive organizations. Mark Pfieffer, Geoff Surtees, Matt McSorley, Mike Quick, and Mike Caulfield could hardly have known that they were blazing a new path in the tired outback of the club inductions when they had membership applicants memorize the LIBRARY DO's AND DON'Ts. Among those to survive the rigorous process was Chuck Gabriel, who soon took his own place among the charter members.

Not long after that, FOTLA made its first foray into the public eye with STORY TIME WITH MRS. WATT at Christmas, 1986. That was warmly received, but the floodgate of public adulation broke with the first LIBRARY AID performance. In that and subsequent L.A.s, FOTLA provided the state for acts from the wildly popular (Bon Yubbi, The F. Scott Fitzgerald Memorial Dramatization Society), to the slightly esoteric (a seance), to the downright malicious (reading a Nixon speech) FOTLA closed the 86-87 school year with a second LIBRARY AID and a farewell banquet.

In the fall of 1987, FOTLA membership was halved. Only Surtees, Gabriel, and Quick remained from the previous year. Nobody had passed the Spring 87 membership interviews. Seeing their dilemma, the three inducted Denise Albert as Sargeant-at-arms. As for the future, the group could dissolve in mid-1988, but assuredly, it will live forever in the hearts and minds of those who demand intelligent student organizations.

UNDERCLASSMEN

THREE DOWN, ONE TO GO

Juniors. We're finally upperclassmen. Life is grand. We have only one more year left at Merrimack, and then we're on our own. Everyone says that junior year is the hardest. I didn't believe them until now. The work has been incredible. Why do the teachers do this to us?

Well, it's supposed to be good for us. Taking the PSATs and SATs was supposed to be good, too. One thing that was magnificent was getting our licenses. No longer are we forced to take the bus full of screaming freshmen. We have freedom. We have wheels. We have nowhere to park when we get to school.

There's been a lot of good things that have happened to us this year. We had a successful fundraiser in Autumn. The money we raised helped to give us a wonderful Prom in May. We're the last class to ever have Cafe Study. It's a blast in Cafe.

We had a lot of fun during Spirit Week, too. Too bad we only get to participate in one more Spirit Week! It's been great in Merrimack High School. This has been the best year in some ways, and the worst year in other ways. We have all new freedoms, and we have all new responsibilities. We're almost through high school, and must start to look to the future.

Hey guys — only one more year. Let's make it a great one!

DOUBLE YELLOW LINE Remember our dreams of getting our licenses so that we may drive home when we stay after school instead of taking the late bus home, only to arrive an hour later. Driving home after finals seemed so far away. Well, here we are, sixteen and eager to sign up for Driver's Ed. Most of us take Driver's Ed. at one time or another. Depending on who you take it with, the class can be the most boring thirty hours you've ever experienced, or it can be the party of your life. In the class we see movies, movies, and more movies of car accidents and people dying. The lesson to them is to be careful and wear your seatbelt. The best part of Driver's Ed. is that you can drive for eight hours with an instructor. Even though they can make you paranoid watching over everything you do, this is where you first feel a sense of freedom. After what seems to be too many hours of work, seeing a driver's license in your hand with your picture on it makes it all seem worthwhile. But now that you have your license, guess who wants to bum rides off you after finals or just after school. Don't reluctantly say 'yes', just say 'no!'

DOUBLE DUTCH

When she started roller skating eight years ago, Stacy Dutch could barely stand up on her skates. "Just one time around," she kept repeating to herself, "I'm going to make it one time around this rink without falling." Well, she made it, and the first barrier of her skating career was surpassed. Stacy then took roller skating lessons where she worked with such determination, she quickly progressed enough to start competing. She hired a pro and created a routine. Now with competitions to work for, she started practicing all the time. With sessions that sometimes started at 4 AM and sometimes ended at midnight, it was difficult to find time for school work and sleep. She practiced at rinks in Merrimack, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Chicago.

Stacy first skated figures, freestyle, and dance but later concentrated mostly on figures and freestyle. Figure skating demands that she very precisely trace a circle, getting every turn perfect. The tricky part is that you can't see the line while you trace it, Stacy explained. She practices all year for one single chance at getting it right. Freestyle includes such amazing feats as spins and double axles, as many have seen ice skaters perform. Can you imagine this performance on roller skates? Dance involves memorizing and performing dance steps to music while following a set path around the rink.

All her bruises and hard work paid off when Stacy entered regional competition. She has been competing for seven years. From her first year she was ranked among the best of the skaters in the area. All together she has won twelve first place gold medals from regionals: seven for figures and five for freestyle. Also among her accomplishments are one second place silver medal for dance and two for freestyle. Each of these victories has allowed her to continue to national competition. She earned a number of bronze medals for both figures and freestyle. But this year, after an astonishing performance, cheering fans rained flowers down onto the rink while the judges flashed her first place scores for figures. Did you know we have the nation's number one figure skater in our own school? With her name known and admired among skaters nationwide, Stacy won Skater of the Year Award for 1987. This year, in possibly her final year of competitive roller skating, Stacy has hopes of winning both figures and freestyle to continue on to world competition. To see her skate, there is no doubt she can make it. Good luck, Stacy!

This I Believe (Nobody Asked You Anyway Vey, So Shut Up)

I. I find this a great honor to be approached by various members of the yearbook staff to write an article for the Yearbook. Although I have never been a wizard of wit or wisdom and have never been an oracle of philosophical thought, I will treat this task with the utmost care and concentration. Oh, who am I kidding? Forget it and keep reading.

There are many things about Merrimack High that I will always remember. Whether it was Library Aid or Mr. Snell's dead cat collection, G period band, or the school production of Godspell, each of these things has been painstakingly etched into the fabric of my being for the rest of time. From cafe study to reading Artie Fixman's articles in Improvda each month, from the massive pep rallies where Dan O'Neal does the wave to the discovery that I was never meant to play hockey in gym, each of these life experiences will follow me through life and make the burden lighter when the going get tough. Cherish your own memories as you go through life, for they are what makes life worth living.

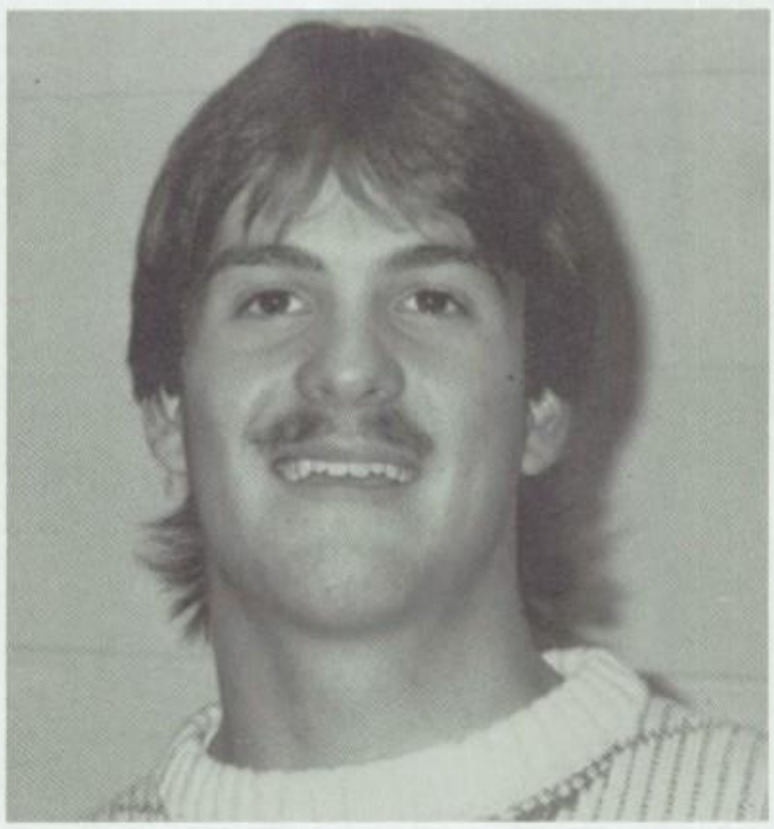
II. I will always remember Merrimack High as a place where I learned the meaning of friendship and acceptance. When I first entered MHS after I moved up here form New York during my freshman year, it was like being thrown into the deep end of an ocean. "Swim or Die!" Well, I should be dead right now. Miraculously, I survived, became Class President for a year and became accepted. I have been fortunate in the fact that I know most of you, whether you want me to or not, and I can say that this school is unique because it has such a vast array of individuals. Instead of being a big blob of students who do not know each other, lumbering around like a giant jello mold or a species of prehistoric gastropod (you all have dictionaries; look it up) every person is their own being, interacting and reacting with each other to form a close knit group of people. Of course, we all have our differences, but that is just the way it is. If everything was perfect, what would Heaven be for? Yet when it really counts, people will stick together, help one another and be there when the going gets rough. I guess that is what being a Junior at MHS is all about. Finally being accepted.

III. Now stop a while and look at the people around you. How do we affect the lives of those around us. I can recognize all of your faces and I know all your names. I only regret that because of lack of time or lack of courage I never got to know some of you as much as I would have like to. So many people have meant a lot to me over the past few years and then disappeared like ships passing in the night never to be heard from again. If you get nothing else from this article, remember this always, what you give is what you get in return. Ignore those around you and you will be ignored. Love the people around you and you will be loved. Take care of each other,for you need each other more than you can imagine.

IV. Well here we are. By the time you read this, it will be the end of your Junior year and most of us will be looking onward to our Senior year and graduation, then college, careers or families. It is necessary to plan for the future but what about today? In no time we will have graduated, we will have kids and be old and wondering why we rushed through our childhood. By then, it will be over, too late! You can not waste time looking for those wasted years (Where have we heard that before?) Listen to me. Savor your time as a young adult now. These are the best years of our lives, we are only teenagers once. By now, most of you are saying, "Vey, who asked you!" Nobody, but this is what I believe. Be teenagers, don't rush into adulthood. It will hit us soon enough.

Good Luck, and don't take any *#!?! from anyone!

John Vey



SOPHOMORES

IN-BETWEEN TIMES

What is a sophomore? Literally, it means a 'wise fool.' Sophomoricness is a stage. It's a rather boring stage. Nothing happens to us. We have no Prom, we can't drive, we've settled into life at Merrimack High School.

We're kind of in-between times. We're no longer freshmen, yet we have so much longer to wait before graduation. The Administration took away Cafe Study when we should have been allowed this privilege.

Spirit Week was nice to look forward to, but it's really the only thing that happened. Oh — except that we finally belong to Merrimack. We are now able to wear the class rings that we bought in the Autumn. It's a nice symbol, a way to show the world that we belong. We are the Class of 1990.

It'll be very interesting to see what the next two years bring us. We have a Prom to look forward to and plan for. Then, we have the Senior Banquet and Graduation on which takes place in June of 1990. I can't wait!

CAFE STUDY What is it? Where is it held? What do you do in it? Will we ever know?

Cafe study was one of the privileges to which we looked forward as freshmen. It kept us going. The thought that as sophomores we would have cafe study gave us a reason for staying. We still have things to look forward to, though. Next year, the Prom. The next year, Senior Privileges and Graduation! It would have been really nice to have cafe study this year, though.

IN MEMORIAM

William Rutkowski

Richard LaValley

REMEMBER

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.

Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.

Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterward remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave,
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than you should remember and be sad.

— Christina Rossetti

A YEAR IN THE LIFE:

We entered the hallowed halls of Merrimack High School for the first time as freshmen. Oh, that despised word. It conjures up thoughts of many lost souls, wandering about the school, totally lost. It brings to mind a teenager, behaving like a four-year old. That's not really what a freshman is like — or is it?

We began school with a homeroom period, where we received our class schedules. This was new. Before, we moved from class to class in a flock, and always to the same class at the same time every day. Why would they put a class in A period one day, C period the next? The bell rang, and we were let loose to find our ways. I made the mistake of asking where the gym was, and someone sent me to the third floor. As time passed, however, we learned our ways around the school, and started to feel like we belonged. Then — the first semester was over, and the teachers told us that they expected us to remember everything we had learned since September. Yes, that dreaded time of final exams had come upon us for the first time. How come no one warned us?

Well, we made it through finals. It was really lousy having to wait for the bus for three hours after taking finals, though. Next, we were shown just how wild Merrimack students could get. Spirit Week had come at long last. We didn't dress up though — hey, we were too cool for that. We hosted the school dance at the end of Spirit Week. It was fun.

We made it through that most awful year of being freshmen. Never again will a year be that rotten. At least next year we get to pick on the freshmen.

THE WORLD ACCORDING TO FRESHMEN Well, here we are, back in school. Our ninth year of public schooling. Does it really seem that long? Well, things are different this year. We're in the high school now. One problem — we're also freshmen. The upperclassmen are all willing to help us find our way around. Ha, Ha, Ha. They help us get to our classes, like gym. "All you have to do is go to the third floor on the elevator, turn right after the pool, and go through the purple doors." The seniors are always ready to tell us about our teachers. "Oh, you've got him? Well, I could tell you some good stories about . . . " They know so much about the school. Will we ever fit in? Now we've made it through the year. We've experienced finals and Spirit Week. We'll be sophomores next year. Then we can pick on the new freshmen just like everyone did to us. Watch out world — here comes the Class of 1991.

OUR FIRST FINALS One of a freshman's biggest fears of high school, besides actually starting at MHS, is taking the first set of final exams in January. They just never seem to end. Some people give up all activities, including sleep, to cram for these tests. Others wisely plan ahead, studying a bit each night before the test. And then there's the ones who just 'wing it' and hope for the best. What should we expect? No one knows. Will it be a 'gut' or a killer? How many questions? What kind of questions? How much of my semester grade will this be? Is it an open-book test(Ha — you wish!). Eventually finals are over, though it seemed we'd never make it through. We entered the room hesitantly, knowing that we really weren't well prepared, and spent the next ninety minutes trying to remember everything we had learned since school began in September. After finals, though, we couldn't go home like the upperclassmen did. No, we had to stay at school and wait for the bus. Oh, well. Next time — I promise myself I'll do better! Just wait until June!
